It's EastEnders' turn to campaign for your votes in the Inside Soap Awards this week, and we spent a lovely day with some of the show's brightest stars for our special feature on p44. Everyone in the cast is very proud of their drama this year – especially the heartbreaking knife-crime plot – and they even gave us a few hints about what's going to happen as evil Stuart's vendetta against the Carters grows ever-more twisted.

"I've met some of the great soap villains!"

On that topic, I was very pleased to discover that actor Ricky Champ, who plays Stuart so brilliantly, proved my rule on soap baddies. You see, I've met some of the greats over the years – Richard Hillman, Archie Mitchell, Pat Phelan – and the one thing they all have in common is that off-screen, they're the nicest people you could ever wish to meet.

It just goes to show what fantastic actors they all are, to turn out such chilling performances to thrill us!

Killer Lachlan STRIKES AGAIN!

The writing appears to be in the wall for Lachlan...

IS PRIYA IN DANGER AS HE IS CAUGHT OUT AT THE CABIN?

...but what will happen to Priya as she heads into the cabin?

Evil Lachlan gets ready to torch the cabin he was hiding Rebecca in this week – but how far is he prepared to go to protect his secrets?

The killer is panicked when he discovers that Priya has organised dog patrols at the glamping site close to where he was holding Rebecca hostage. And after he heads over to check the site, Lachlan is rattled to find a message carved into the cabin wall by Rebecca, which reads: 'Lachlan is a killer'! So as Priya leads the patrol to the cabin, is she heading for deadly danger?

"It's nerve-wracking as Lachlan has completely lost control at this point," admits Thomas Atkinson, who plays him. "If anyone discovers what Rebecca wrote, it'll be terrible. He has to get rid of it before someone sees it! Lachlan is clutching at straws."

With a series of awful crimes all committed so he can build a life with Belle, Lachlan has more to lose than ever before. The smitten pair plan to move in together, and are excited when they find the perfect place – but is Lachlan's new life about to come tumbling down?

"They find this really nice country flat near the village – I'd like to live there myself," jokes Thomas. "Lachlan feels great about it as he wants to spend the rest of his life with Belle. He hasn't killed people for the sake of it – his murders were motivated by wanting to do anything to be with Belle. Flat-hunting is also a good distraction for him from having murdered four people!”

"Lachlan has no idea what he's going to do – he's losing control!"

Unknown to him, however, Priya has taken over managing Home Farm Estate – and she’s keen to boost security around the glamping site, so brings in the experts. But when she goes out with the dog patrol, Priya is stunned to find Lachlan hanging around at the shack. Little does she know what he’s trying to conceal inside.

“Lachlan tells her that he’s been for a run and that’s why he’s in the woods, though she doesn’t believe him,” shares Thomas. “Priya is suspicious, but not that he’s a killer – she just knows he’s trying to hide something. The truth is that she’s in danger, as anyone messing with Lachlan’s safety and his future with Belle is not going to have a great ending.”

With the truth etched in the shack, and Priya and co too close for comfort, Lachlan has limited options to stay ahead. Thomas tells us his alter ego will set fire to the cabin to cover his tracks, but just how far will he go to avoid being exposed?

“Lachlan has no idea what he’s going to do next!” says the star. “Throughout this entire storyline, he’s always had the control, but at this point it’s unravelling...”

Kate White

A BUM DEAL!

Actors who play soap killers tend to feel the wrath of the Great British public when they’re out and about, and Thomas is no exception.

“It’s normally older women calling me a naughty boy,” he grins. “I had a woman slap my bum in the Trafford Centre! It was weird, but I love it! Am I excited for Lachlan to get caught? No, as I like it here at Emmerdale. Playing a bad guy is a lot of fun.”

CORONATION STREET | ITV FRIDAY

Henry robs Rita – and cons the Rovers!

MASSIVELY IN DEBT, GEMMA'S TERRIFIED BOYFRIEND STOOPS TO A NEW LOW...

Henry fears for his life after Cressida's cronies get aggressive

Bankrupt Henry is threatened by brutal heavies to cough up some cash this week – so he makes a grab for Rita's savings in a bid to pay off the money he owes!

While kind-hearted Rita has bent over backwards to take care of Henry's lover Gemma, that appears to count for nothing in the face of Henry's predicament. But when his attempt to rob Rita goes awry, Henry concocts a scheme against new Rovers owners Johnny and Jenny. With oblivious Gemma's heart set to be broken all over again, how long before Henry's terrible crimes are uncovered?

"If Henry doesn't come up with this money, he's a dead man," sighs George Banks, who plays him. "His actions stem from pure desperation. Henry has never wanted for anything before, and this is the first time he's been in a situation that he can't buy himself out of. He could just be honest with Gemma and tell her that he needs some help, but his pride gets in the way."

Henry's dignity fails to prevent his decision to rob Gemma's friend Rita, though. With Henry having been cut off by his rich family – owners of the Newton And Ridley brewery – for ditching his engagement to well-heeled Cressida to reunite with Gemma, Rita has hired him to be her paper boy until he gets back on his feet. But when his ex-fiancée's family dispatches thugs to find Henry and recoup the £20,000 that they coughed up for his and Cressida's wedding, they leave him in no doubt that he needs cash fast. So having witnessed Rita stowing away a cheque for £15,000 from a matured investment, he goes on a quest to seek it out and take it from her.

Henry needs money now – it's desperation and the last resort

Rita has looked out for Gemma and Henry “Gemma’s made Henry the happiest he’s ever been!”

George defends his alter ego...

How genuine are Henry’s feelings for Gemma?

Henry has risked a lot by choosing to be with Gemma, and he does love her. His engagement to Cressida was an arrangement between their families, and he wasn’t happy. The times he’s been with Gemma have been the happiest he’s ever felt.

Have fans given you a hard time for Henry’s mistreatment of Gemma?

A lady sidled up to me in the bank and said, “Ooh, you’re a swine, aren’t you?” I was a bit puzzled, but then it clicked she was talking about Henry and Gemma! People weren’t best pleased...

Are you enjoying being back at Coronation Street after Henry’s recent return?

I’m having a wonderful time! It’s really nice to see Henry evolve. And it’s a pleasure working with Dolly-Rose [Campbell, aka Gemma] again. We’re both very silly, and Dolly’s a lot of fun.

However, Henry is still broke and frantic by the time the Rovers is relaunched with a lavish party – prompting him to sink even lower with a second outrageous attempt to secure funds. When Jenny and Johnny send him into the pub cellar to change a barrel, he flings himself down the steps – intending to sue the Rovers bosses for his injuries...

“Henry sees an opportunity to get himself out of a big hole,” admits George. “It’s quite dark, though again, it’s desperation. All he’s thinking in that moment is how he needs this money no matter what, and it’s the last resort. There are no other options on the table in his eyes.”

As Henry is found sprawled out in the cellar nursing a broken arm, he wastes no time in stating his intention to make the pub pay. But has he solved his problems – or are they only just beginning?

“As far as Henry’s concerned, all this dishonesty is to save his relationship with Gemma,” claims George. “He’s already turned his back on his family for her, so the idea they could be over because of money is devastating. But it’s whether he can make the ends justify the means. Deep down, Henry hopes if Gemma ever found out what he’s done, then she’d accept it. But it’s a risky alternative!”

Ian is kept very busy pointing the finger this week!

EASTENDERS | BBC1 TUESDAY

Hands off my mum!

IAN'S BIG DAY IS RUINED WHEN HE CATCHES MASOOD KISSING KATHY...

The day Ian has been dreaming of for months finally arrives this week, but will everything go to plan?

Despite forming a meticulous strategy for the launch of his new business, Walford East, there's a big shock in store for the businessman – as the night goes awry, he's stunned to find his mum caught up in a passionate clinch with Masood!

"Kathy and Masood have come close before, but this week things are taken to a whole new level," reckons our EastEnders source. "It's pretty obvious these two are made for each other – but Ian is a big problem. And of course he goes totally off the deep end!"

The discovery of his mum's new fella is the icing on a very bad cake for Ian as, despite his fastidious planning, the launch turns into a complete disaster.

His hired help – teen layabout Hunter Owen – is determined to get away with doing no work whatsoever. So instead of helping out, Hunter manipulates Ian into giving a job to Tiffany, who is sent around the Square to distribute promo leaflets.

"Ian has put months of planning into this very special occasion," declares our informant. "He's determined that nothing will go wrong. But this is Albert Square – and it's Ian Beale! What do you think is going to happen?"

Somewhat predictably, Tiffany soon gets distracted from her work, and abandons her post. This is the final straw for already tense Ian, and he has a complete meltdown.

As the big day itself dawns, the pressure is mounting even further. To aid publicity, Ian has decided to invite along local newspaper The Walford

Tiff dishes out promotional leaflets – but soon gets bored!

“Ian wants to make Kathy and Mas pay for ruining his dream...”

Kathy and Masood take their relationship to the next level betrayal. Ian also takes delivery of a package for his mum, and when he reads the note inside the parcel, he gets the wrong end of the stick, so tells Kathy to leave Walford!

“Kathy hasn’t realised just how hurt Ian is by her actions,” reasons our mole. “She tries to get him to open up to her, but he refuses to listen. In fact, Ian pettily meddles in the running of the café to score points!”

As mum and son butt heads, can they make amends?

Ian is ready to turn his back on Kathy following her actions

Gazette, but he’s dismayed when the journalist who turns up to cover the proceedings is Sarah-Jane Spilsbury!

Instantly recognising her as the woman he got on the wrong side of a few months back, Ian worries that she’ll do a hatchet job of him in print. He starts to feel that his launch could be cursed – and it soon seems as if his fears may be justified...

“Ian is running around like a headless chicken, trying to keep everyone happy,” says our insider. “But he’s stopped in his tracks when he walks into the kitchen and catches Kathy and Masood kissing! Ian is humiliated, and the resultant scene is chaos! With his launch in tatters, Ian is determined to make the pair pay for ruining his dream.”

The next day, Ian angrily tries to get back at Masood, furious at his so-called pal’s

MR BUMP!

Ian’s not thrilled to see Sarah-Jane...

Ian has bumped into journalist Sarah-Jane before – quite literally! After accidentally clattering into her wheelchair, Ian was dismayed when she introduced herself as a reporter for The Walford Gazette. She then berated him for poor wheelchair access in the café, sarcastically telling him she hoped his new restaurant would be better. She wasn’t impressed as Ian and Masood explained their plans for the business – will she be won over at the launch itself?

PETER HAUNTED BY TINA!

The sins of his past will be revisited on the cobbles...

Peter Barlow will think he's seen a ghost later this summer, when his dead mistress Tina McIntyre comes back to haunt him! Well, sort of...

The truth is, Peter's epic love story with Carla – whom he cheated on with Tina – will face a big test after his scorned ex-wife realises that she's falling for him again, and decides to set Peter a secret challenge to see if he's changed his philandering ways...

"When interviewing for a new machinist at the factory, Carla is struck by the resemblance that one of the applicants bears to Tina," reveals Chris Gascoyne, who plays Peter. "She decides to let Peter interview this woman and see how he handles it. But will he pass the test? You'll have to wait and see!"

Peter has made no secret of the fact that he's keen on a reconciliation with Carla, who has told him in no uncertain terms that it just isn't going to happen. However, with the pair teaming up to run Underworld again, the temptation to mix business and pleasure will always be there. Is Carla set to get her knickers in a twist over Peter once more if he actually resists Tina's doppelganger? Or will the Street Lothario revert to type, and confirm Carla's fears that he is simply pants at being a one-woman man?

Carla will put Peter to the ultimate test

"Peter is older and wiser – and maybe not as impulsive as he once was," argues Chris. "He is going to prove he can run the factory successfully, and then he'll sit back and see what follows. However, with Nick Tilsley [Carla's ex-husband] about to arrive back on the scene, anything could happen!"

ALL CHANGE AT THE TOP!

Soap boss Kate Oates takes the helm in the Square...

Walford is to be governed by a new leading lady, with the announcement that former Corrie and Emmerdale chief Kate Oates is to take charge as senior executive producer.

EastEnders is currently in the hands of one of its old bosses, John Yorke, who will step down at the end of the year, when Kate – an ex-producer of BBC radio soap The Archers – will take full control of the show, as well as overseeing popular series Casualty and Holby City.

"This is an amazing opportunity for me to have creative input into three of the UK's leading dramas," shares Kate. "I'm excited about meeting the teams, and can't wait to tell some unmissable stories."

Following her award-winning stints on Corrie and Emmerdale, we know Kate is capable of just that – having led plots such as killer Cameron's Woolpack siege and Ashley's dementia in the Dales, as well as Bethany's grooming ordeal and Phelan's demise on the cobbles. Kate will begin work at EastEnders in October – we can't wait to see what she has planned!

Things got heated between Dirk and Milo – with tragic consequences!

HOLLYOAKS | Channel 4 MONDAY

Milo banished!

IS HE SET TO LEAVE THE CUNNINGHAM FAMILY FOR GOOD?

Liberty and Dennis have decided it's time for Milo to go – will they change their minds?

The grieving Cunninghams ask Milo to leave their home for good this week – but will he go without a fight?

Since discovering that Milo was the person responsible for Dirk's tragic death, the distraught family is finding it hard to forgive him and move on. But when they come to the painful decision that their lodger has to move out, Milo doesn't take the news well...

"He's heartbroken," confirms Nathan Morris, who plays the accidental serial killer. "He does feel such guilt for the trouble he's caused the family, so part of him accepts that they wouldn't want him around any more. But part of him feels like his world has fallen apart."

After pleading with Liberty to give him another chance, Milo manages to persuade his surrogate family to take pity on him, and they eventually agree that he can stay.

"Milo and Liberty still have feelings for each other, and she can see the good in him," Nathan tells us. "She can tell that his remorse is genuine. Milo is trying to help Liberty through her grief, so she needs him around. She can see that her dad's death was an accident, and she's able to forgive Milo and accept his support."

But how much longer can Milo keep his real identity under wraps? The most recent Hollyoaks trailer has teased a big showdown between Milo and Cindy, during which he locks her in a car and suspends her from a crane! So is it fair to say there's a lot more drama to come?

"Obviously I can't give too much away, but there's a few more twists and turns,” teases Nathan. “Filming that stunt was really hard work, but incredibly fun – we did have stunt doubles, although I wanted to do as much as possible myself. It’s a real heart-in-your-mouth situation, and so exciting – I can’t wait to see the final footage!”

“Liberty can see the good in Milo, and that his remorse is genuine”

With Dirk the latest on Milo’s list of victims – which also includes Mr and Mrs Cunningham, and Gavin Armstrong – we wonder if he might manage to accidentally off anyone else before his time in Hollyoaks is up...

“Who knows? I don’t think anyone is safe in this village!” muses Nathan. “What I like is the fact that Milo never actually means to hurt anybody, and yet here we are down the line and he’s accidentally murdered several people! It’s tragic – but for me that just makes the story more interesting and original.”

Sarah Ellis

RIP DIRK!

But the viewers don’t hold Milo responsible...

Dirk’s accidental death at Milo’s hands was a complete shocker – but Nathan tells us that he hasn’t faced the backlash from fans that he was expecting...

“I thought I would be public enemy number one,” he reveals. “Dirk was such a loved character, and nobody wanted to see him go. But neither did Milo, and a lot of the audience realised that. People who have been following Milo’s story appreciate that his remorse is genuine, and they do feel some sympathy for him. I’ve actually had quite a lot of support from fans, which is lovely.”

Sally's jail fears!

Sally has been made to rue the day she ever met Duncan

A HIDDEN PHONE COULD WRECK HER LIFE...

There's big trouble for Sally this week, when a crucial piece of evidence linking her to Duncan's stolen-money plot turns up at her house.

With her political career destroyed and her relationship with husband Tim strained, Sally is under tremendous pressure and still worries the police will think she was in on the con. So after a phone is found in her guttering, Sally's appalled. Was this part of Duncan's wicked plot?

"It certainly looks as if he's gone all out to point the finger at Sally," whispers our Street snitch. "It doesn't look good for her at all. The fact he's gone so far as to hide a phone shows he's serious about implicating Sally in everything. It's just her word against the mounting evidence..."

Tim and his dad Geoff are appalled when they see the device, and immediately counsel Sally to ring the police and let them deal with it.

However, Gina reckons Sally would be mad to hand it over – as there's no reason that the authorities should believe her. Sally is torn because the panic is starting to set in, but Geoff is quick to act and ring the police himself. Yet when they arrive to collect the phone and check out where it was hidden, Sally is shocked to realise it's gone.

"This looks even dodgier!" says our spy. "Especially as it was Geoff, not Sally, who rang to report it. The police would have every right to consider that Sally deliberately moved it when she realised Geoff had called them. It doesn't matter what she says, her 'actions' speak louder than words."

Sally and Tim bicker over how best to deal with this situation

After this debacle, Sally meets with her solicitor Paula in order to talk about what this development means for her case. Paula is honest, and tells Sally that what happened has landed her in hot water.

In the fallout, tensions reach boiling point between warring sisters Gina and Sally – but when Dev dumps Gina, Sally makes peace with her sibling and lets her move back in with her and Tim. Can she now convince the police that she was a victim of Duncan's con, not an accomplice?

Honey's new man!

AS SHE GOES ON A HOT DATE, HAS BILLY LOST HER FOREVER?

Billy gets excited about the prospect of Honey moving into his house this week – but she has other plans, having lined up a date with her hunky dentist! Does this mean that Billy and Honey are finished for good?

Billy is in a very optimistic mood at the start of the week, as he prepares for Honey and the kids to move into the spare room at No 18, with him and Jay. However, when Jay lets slip to Honey how excited Billy is, her reaction makes it clear that there's no chance whatsoever of a reunion between the former couple.

"Jay is put in a really awkward position," sighs our EastEnders insider. "He doesn't want to see Billy make a fool of himself, but he doesn't have the heart to tell him that he's wasting his time with Honey. In the end, Jay tries to be kind, and encourages Billy not to give up on her. Lydia's mystery past!

WHO IS THE WOMAN SHE AVOIDS AT THE HOSPITAL?

Someone mysterious from Lydia's past reappears in her life this week, rattling her and confusing Sam. But who is she, and why has she made Lydia so upset?

The strange encounter happens at the hospital, where Lydia is collecting test results, after finding a potentially cancerous mole on her leg.

"Lydia is a bundle of nerves as she heads to the hospital," asserts our Emmerdale insider. "It's the fear of the unknown, and she just wants to know one way or another what she's dealing with. If it's bad news, so be it – but she really can't bear all the uncertainty. Thankfully, she has Sam's complete support, and he has promised to be with her every step of the way."

However, it's not just the test results that are bothering Lydia. While she and Sam are at the hospital, she comes face to face with a woman called Pat, who recognises Lydia and tries to talk to her.

"Lydia is completely startled to see Pat," reveals our source. "It takes her a split-second to take in who it is in front of her, but as soon as she realises, she makes for the nearest exit, dragging Sam along behind her! Sam is left feeling utterly bewildered, and he wonders what on earth this woman could have done to make his fiancée act in such a strange and impulsive way."

Later that day, Pat appears for a second time, seemingly trying to make contact with Lydia. But before Pat can explain herself, Lydia angrily storms off again, ignoring the woman's overtures. Getting increasingly worried about what could be going on, Sam urges Lydia to open up to him.

"Lydia is very cagey with Sam, and doesn't want to get into the details," sighs our Leo disses Pete!

THE LAD DOESN'T SEEM HAPPY WHEN HIS MUM SAYS PETE IS MOVING IN...

Rhona tells her little boy, Leo, that Pete will be moving in with them this week – but as the youngster appears completely uninterested in the news, Pete makes it his mission to win him over!

Pete is bowled over when Rhona asks him to move in, and eagerly tells Ross about the invitation. Ross tries to hide his own disappointment that Pete is moving out, and urges his brother to go for it. However, after Pete informs Rhona he'll be taking her up on her offer, he's disheartened to find that Leo isn't at all thrilled!

"Leo is seven years old, and like all youngsters, he can be unpredictable," reckons our Emmerdale spy. "Pete was really hoping that Leo would be bouncing up and down with excitement. So when Leo instead reacts with ambivalence, Pete does his best to bond with the lad – but it's a struggle!"

Later on, Rhona is pleased to at last receive her decree absolute, finally freeing her from her rapist husband Pierce Harris. But on telling Jessie her good news, her friend jokes it's only a matter of time before Rhona and Pete will be getting married!

It's an awkward moment for Pete, who's still trying to become pals with young Leo. Will Jessie's gaffe make things even more tricky?

Tom Spilsbury

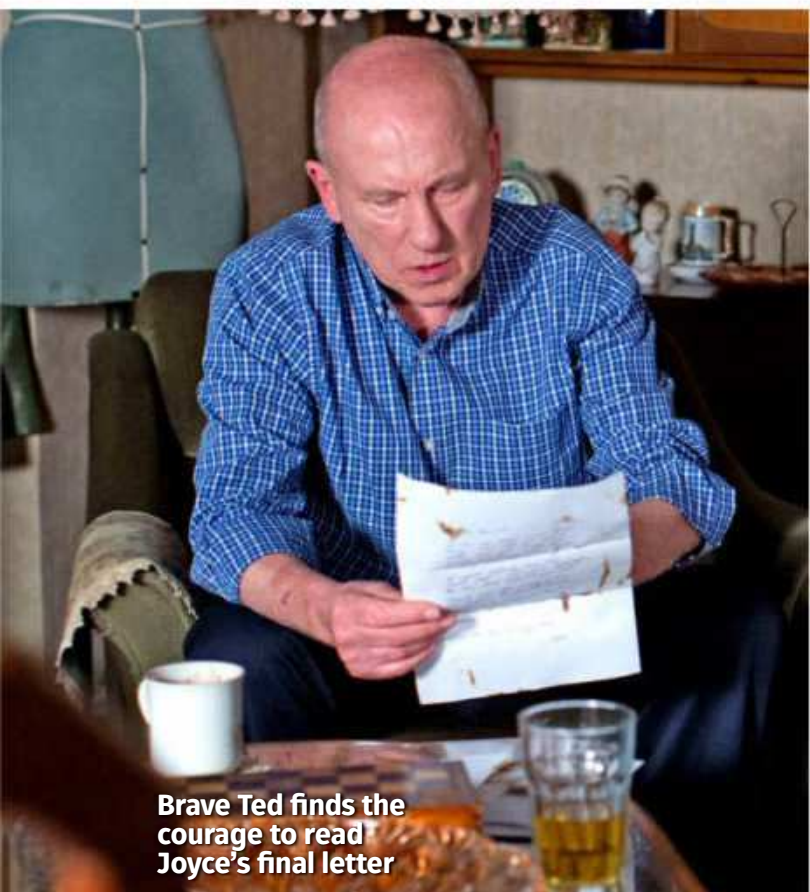

Lydia is very anxious as she attends her appointment to collect her test results sneak. "Sam is trying to avoid pushing her too far, though he can tell she's distressed and he thinks he can help. On top of all that, he's keen to set a date for their wedding – but is his other half in the right frame of mind to think about that, with so many other things swirling around in her head?"

Whoever Pat is, it doesn't look as though she's going to give up and go away before she's had the opportunity to talk properly with Lydia. So, is it only a matter of time until Lydia has to face up to whatever it is that's making her feel so uncomfortable?

Brave Ted finds the courage to read Joyce's final letter

EASTENDERS | BBC1 THURSDAY

Ted's secret health scare!

HE HIDES HIS HEART TROUBLE FROM HIS FRIENDS...

Grieving Ted is stunned by a letter from late wife Joyce containing a ticket to Australia this week – but will he be well enough to go?

The devastated widower has been struggling to cope since burying his beloved partner, and it's taken a lot of effort from the Taylors and good pal Patrick to get him through this. What Ted didn't know is that Joyce left a trail of letters, and now he's been gifted the final one from her best pal Joanie. So why is he so reluctant to open it?

"Ted doesn't want to face up to his heart issues"

"The letters have only made Ted feel even more alone and heartbroken," says our Square spy. "When he's read the final message from Joyce, she's really gone forever. He's so upset and unsettled with the whole thing that Ted is ready to burn it and let that be the end to it. Luckily he doesn't, as Joyce has left him a life-changing gift!"

The plane ticket allows Ted to travel to the other side of the world and visit their son Alan, something Joyce would have loved to have done but never had the chance. Bernie is by Ted's side as he discovers what his wife wanted, and she's thrilled he'll get the trip of a lifetime. However, she does have some concerns about his health.

Ted has been struggling with chest pains, and they flare up during a chess tournament earlier that day. Rather than being honest, Ted dismisses the discomfort as heartburn – but the next day, Sonia makes him go to A&E. After being seen by the doctor, Ted lies again and tells his friends that he's in rude health, while secretly pocketing a leaflet about angina.

"Ted doesn't seem to want to face up to his heart issues, but prevention is the best cure, and the doctors can keep him safe," shares our snitch. "No one knows that he has this condition, and Ted wants to keep it that way. However, he starts making some plans that seem to suggest he's living on borrowed time – and his loved ones begin to get suspicious."

Patrick is the one to confront him after he discovers that Ted has stealthily set up a tab at the bar for him and the Taylor family so they won't have to pay for drinks for a while. He's also handed Bernie a wad of cash, and Patrick wants to know what's going on in his head. Can he get a straight answer out of Ted?

Meanwhile, Karen is delighted to hear Bernadette is in the money – but as she plots how to spend it while at a chess match with her daughter, the phone rings several times. Why is Ted calling so urgently?

"I can run, but I do look a little bit like a baby duck. Have you ever seen a baby duck running? I watch it all the time on the internet, it's brilliant!"

The fact that Lydia followed this fantastic declaration with an actual impression of a baby duck running is why she's our favourite Emmerdale villager of the moment.

"Just think about your first dance, Tracy. Everyone has had their food, couple of drinks, the speeches are out the way..."

"I'm leaning against the bar chatting with Adam, whose top button has come undone and his curly chest hair is peeking over the top..."

God help any woman who tries to get in the way of Mary catching the bouquet on Tracy's wedding day. And we pity poor Adam if she does...

"Your problem is you are a perfectionist. Too buttoned up to ever risk failing. Feel the wind in your hair and risk messing up that perfect image you have for once."

For all the nonsense he speaks, Rishi sometimes – just sometimes, mind you – speaks rather a lot of sense.

"There is not a snowball's chance in hell of you and me getting back together. And if you think you've been led on then why don't you multiply that by a million, and you might get some idea of what you put me through all those years ago. Why don't you do that?!"

Yeah, we hear what you're saying, Carla – and we don't believe it either...

Sean's pals have already started to notice that all is not right with him, and Eileen has become concerned over where her former lodger is now living. When she confides her worries in Billy, he promises he'll do some digging and find out the truth. But nothing can prepare him for what happens next...

When the kindly vicar drops in at the Red Rec to help with a food van for the homeless, he's stunned to see Sean! The fella initially tries to make out that he is also volunteering for the good cause. But when his pal Carol turns up for food, it's clear he won't be able to keep his secret for much longer.

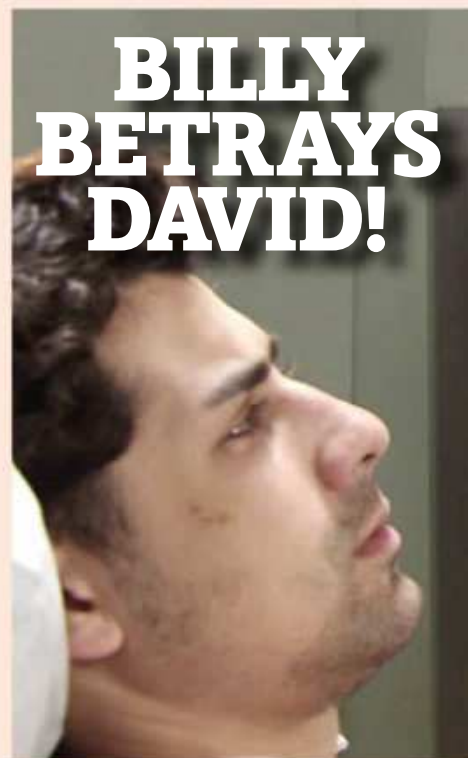

He is eventually forced to come clean after Carol is attacked – and as Billy helps take her to hospital, Sean breaks down and admits that he's been sleeping rough.

"Billy calls Eileen, and they both feel awful for not realising how bad things have got," says our Corrie spy. "Sean insists that he doesn't want their charity, but Eileen and Billy want to do whatever it takes to get Sean back on track."

Sean eventually comes to his senses, and returns to the Street asking for Billy and Eileen's help. He's relieved when Billy offers him his sofa, and soon he's handing his CV in to Underworld in an effort to get his old job back. Is there hope for Sean yet?

HER FAMILY TAKES DRASTIC ACTION TO STOP HER FROM SEEING LEWIS...

Gail is stunned this week, when she heads round to her mum's house, only to discover Audrey's secret – that she is embroiled once again in a romance with con man Lewis Archer!

Gail soon decides to go to extreme lengths to keep her mum away from the man who broke both Audrey and Gail's hearts previously.

"Gail and David kidnap her!" gasps Sue Nicholls, who plays Audrey. "David's returned from his holiday, and when he hears about Audrey and Lewis, he and Gail come up with this plan!"

Gail initially confronts Audrey and Lewis, but soon realises that her mother isn't willing to listen to her pleas to have nothing to do with the slippery charmer. Later, with David filled in on the situation, he lures Audrey to the salon. Then, as the pair begin to talk, he locks the door behind her! Audrey is confused, until Gail appears from the back of the shop. The scheming duo proceed to tell Audrey they're staging an intervention to stop her reuniting with Lewis!

Audrey is outraged that her daughter won't listen to her wishes, and tells her that she's made up her mind. But as she's held captive, will a few home truths emerge? After all, Gail had an affair with Lewis herself, before he left her high and dry...

"Gail always harps on about what Lewis did to her, but when that kerfuffle happened, years ago, Gail knew that Audrey was in a relationship with him," points out Sue. "Lewis might have done wrong to Gail, but Audrey was wronged by both of them – so maybe Gail shouldn't have the moral high ground on this!"

With Audrey held prisoner by her own family, who will crack first? And will any of them change their minds?

they're getting it on again! I want Nancy and Luke to find out – and then get together with each other to spite their cheating exes!

👤 | Naomi

Nancy's reaction in particular should be a thing to behold – bring on the catfight!

IN NEED OF A DOC

I felt like I needed an ambulance myself by the end of the last episode of Casualty! It was just so intense – what with Alicia and Eddie's heated confrontation, him throwing her through a glass door, and then the ambulance crashing on the way to the hospital. I swear I was holding my breath for about the last 10 minutes!

👤 | Gina

The latest episode was even more dramatic – I can't believe poor Sam is dead. Sob!

SOAP SWAP

I've just heard the news that hot Dr Nate from Home and Away is joining Hollyoaks, and I feel like all my dreams have come true! What genius casting! If you see him, Sarah, could you send him my way please?

👤 | Darcy

I've been up to the Hollyoaks set to meet him already!

I was too busy drooling to even mention you. Soz!

Sarah's future husband is on this side of the world now

Who wouldn't want to see these two together again?

BACK-ROOM GIRL

Following Megan's letter last issue, I'd like to jump on the Corrie Rita band wagon, too! Jenny and Johnny taking over the Rovers will hopefully mean more scenes of Rita in the pub's back room. I have such fond memories of when she and Bet Lynch were in there, putting the world to rights!

👍 | Gladys

Wouldn't it be glorious to see Rita pull a few pints behind the bar? She could be the new Betty!

Our new favourite Dales duo!

FRIEND ZONE

Laurel and Chas' heart-to-heart recently was touching, and it made me think of other Dales villagers I'd like to see together. It would be fab to get Bernice and Moira in a room and find out what happens! And maybe Pete could befriend Bob – they're both big love rats!

👍 | Frieda, Hereford

Jai and Doug would be another unlikely duo with great potential!

TOUCH AND CHLO

What a great idea to give Neighbours' Chloe Brennan the Huntington's story. As well as raising awareness of a serious disease, it's going to be interesting watching how Chloe's condition progresses, and whether any of her siblings are affected.

👍 | Michele

But poor Tyler is in jail! How would he cope?

The BIG DEBATE!

ILLUSTRATION: ROB DAVIS

STUART STALKS THE CARTERS!

Psycho Stuart sent shivers down our spine as his twisted obsession with the Carter family grew ever-more sinister. But where is this story heading – and who'll suffer the most as a result?

I'm actually starting to feel a bit sorry for Stuart. The scene at his flat between him and Halfway revealed a vulnerable side to him that we rarely see, and that Stuart is actually deeply tortured and very misunderstood. On a side note, the guy who plays Halfway blew me away in that episode. It was great to see him do some drama instead of comedy.

👍 | Alex

Stuart's behaviour makes absolutely no sense! He's so desperate for Mick's friendship, yet he'll do anything he can to sabotage it. This situation between him and the Carters is so convoluted, surely not even the writers know where they are going with it!

👍 | Lisa

Trust us, they know! Turn to p48 for a few teasers from Ricky Champ and Tony Clay (Stuart and Halfway)...

If Stuart has really been this fixated with the Carters for so many years, why is this the first time we're seeing it? You'd think he would have pitched up in Walford when the Carters moved to the Square, and kicked off his campaign of terror then.

👍 | David

Stuart is fast becoming Walford's most hated – and that means there must be a whopping 'whodunnit?' on the way! The Carters are practically queuing up to do time for him. My money's on Shirley being the one to finally see him off!

👍 | Kellie

Stuart may be too strong for Shirl – but don't rule it out...

THE BIG. interview

CORONATION STREET | ITV WEDNESDAY

“This could be Audrey’s last chance!”

An ex-gigolo and retired con man, who had an affair with your daughter to swindle thousands of pounds, isn’t everybody’s idea of Mr Right. However, Audrey Roberts has never been the most conventional of ladies. So this week, it should come as no surprise that our Aud is back together with naughty Lewis Archer. He’s a total charmer, and their chemistry is electric, so who can blame her? But what will her family and Weatherfield neighbours have to say?

“Well, there comes a time in life when you no longer care about other people’s opinions,” laughs Sue Nicholls, who plays the Coronation Street favourite. “Audrey has lived a fairly eventful life, so she’s not too concerned with people gossiping about her. She can give as good as she gets!”

While that’s undoubtedly true, Audrey does care about what her family thinks

THE PLATTS ARE IN UPROAR ABOUT AUDREY’S REUNION WITH LEWIS, BUT SUE NICHOLLS SAYS HER ALTER EGO IS DOING THE RIGHT THING...

Warring women: Gail and Audrey haven’t been seeing eye to eye of late

Audrey had a romance with soldier Ted, hoping he’d propose to her and she’d be able to regain custody of her son, Stephen. Sadly, pregnant Audrey lost her nerve and ditched Ted – without sharing that he was set to be a father. Ted later visited Audrey and told her he’s gay.

Win or Lewis: Is Audrey making the right call by following her heart?

of her decision to reunite with the smoothest scoundrel in soapland. The only person who knows that she's even considering taking back Lewis is her old pal and sparring partner, Claudia. "They actually have a lovely heart-to-heart, and Claudia tells Audrey that she should go for it," grins Sue. "I think this comes from a genuine feeling on Claudia's part that she wants her friend to have this chance at happiness. Claudia is the only one who knows the whole truth."

In a bid to give herself some time to reconnect with Lewis without any distractions, Audrey lies to Gail and the rest of her family, and fibs to them that she's heading off on a cruise holiday.

"In fact, she and Lewis are holed up at No 5 Grasmere Drive, where Audrey lives!" shares Sue, who in real life is married to former Corrie villain Mark Eden (Alan Bradley). "Trouble comes when Gail finds out that the cruise is a lie – she's really worried about Audrey, so she heads over to her house. Audrey and Lewis have music playing, and have been having a lovely evening. But just as they are about to have a dance together, Audrey spots Gail's horrified face peering through the window. It was a very funny scene to film!"

As you can imagine, Gail is enraged by what she's witnessed and hits the roof – and the next day, she and David stage the intervention at the salon. But Audrey is adamant about where her heart lies.

"Audrey has already told Gail that she wants her daughter to approve of her and Lewis, and that this could be her last opportunity for some happiness," says Sue. "She knew that it wouldn't be easy, but Audrey is fed up with her family treating her as though she's daft and doesn't know what she's doing!"

Audrey is fed up with being treated as if she's daft!

It doesn't look as if this rift within the Platt clan will be healed any time soon, though Sue reckons that Audrey is right to stand her ground against Gail. She's also delighted that Coronation Street is exploring the subject of romance in later life.

"I'm pleased that Corrie is showing that romance isn't just for younger generations – it's important," enthuses the actress. "Not everyone wants romance later in life, but it happens and it is a lovely thing. I am really lucky to have the opportunity to play this storyline, and Nigel Havers [who plays Lewis] makes it very easy – he's so lovely to work with. It's never too late to find love!"

LOVE of Audrey!

Inside Soap takes a look at the leading men in her life...

Alf Roberts

Flighty Audrey seemed an odd choice of other half for steady

Alf Roberts, but the couple adored each other. Despite the notion she was a gold-digger, Audrey stayed true to Alf and was destroyed by his death on New Year's Day 1999, after 14 years of wedded bliss...

Fred Elliott

For years, Fred made it clear he wanted to be with Audrey, but she insisted they were just pals. However, as Fred prepared to wed Bev Unwin, Audrey confessed her regret at rejecting him. On the big day, Fred visited Audrey to let her down gently, but died in her hallway!

Bill Webster

Audrey fell into being with Kevin's dad Bill, but there wasn't that much of a connection. They had a perfectly nice time for a while – however, after a fateful holiday in which Audrey got fed up with Bill's drinking, it was clear that they were just not going to work.

Marc Selby

Audrey dated Claudia's ex Marc after helping him cope with abuse for being a cross-dresser. While she kept Marc's secret from her family, she enjoyed nights out with him as his alter ego Marcia. Audrey ended things, though, after Marc showed up as Marcia at the Rovers.

Ken Barlow

After years of being friends, Audrey fell for Ken – but they never quite got going. First, she was thwarted by his fling with Cathy's sister Nessa, then Ken lost out to fun-loving mechanic Freddie. It seemed as if their romance was never really meant to be...

“Imran’s not a monster – he has a caring side too”

HOLLYOAKS STAR IJAZ RANA CHATS TO INSIDE SOAP ABOUT HIS CHARACTER’S PARENTAL ABUSE PLOT...

Some soap storylines are harder to watch than others – and seeing Hollyoaks teenager Imran subject his mum Misbah to violence has certainly been difficult for the viewers to digest. Sadly, it’s a serious issue that affects a large number of families in the UK, making this plot an important one for the soap to be telling right now.

“We had some meetings with charities, where people who had suffered this kind of violence in the home came in to talk to us,” explains teenage star Ijaz Rana, who plays Imran, as we ask him about this sensitive plot. “It gave me and Harvey [Viridi, who plays Misbah] a better idea of how our characters would feel during those scenes, and we could make it as realistic as possible.

“I was pretty shocked when I first heard about this storyline,” he adds. “Imran started out as a character who was very loving, and always took care of his family.”

Imran’s physical abuse of his mum has been escalating since the start of the year, when the family was involved in a terrifying car accident. Believing that his mother valued his sister Yas’ life above his, Imran began taking his anger out on frightened Misbah. And the plot has led to some very intense scenes between Ijaz and screen-mum Harvey.

“We do talk to each other outside of work, and we discuss what our characters would be feeling in these scenes,” the actor tells us. “I think the preparation is very important, because you can’t just go in there and turn angry straight away – I have to go through all the emotions Imran would be feeling, and get myself into the right headspace.”

So far, Imran’s anger has mainly been directed at his mum – although he did

There may be trouble ahead: Could there be a romance between these two?

lose his temper at best mate Ollie recently too. However, after an unfortunate incident with his girlfriend Brooke this week, Misbah jumps to the conclusion that he’s been lashing out at her as well.

“Brooke comes over for a date, and everything is going well at first,” reveals

Anger issues: Imran's actions have left his mum terrified of him

Ijaz. "But then Brooke has a sensory overload because of the aftershave Imran's wearing, so runs away – and she falls over on the way. When Misbah sees the cut on Brooke's head, her first reaction is to think that Imran has done it."

As you can imagine, Misbah's accusations don't go down at all well with her son, meaning another violent confrontation could be in store. And Ijaz reckons the family needs to seek outside help if they're to break the cycle of abuse.

"Misbah doesn't want to tell anyone about the abuse, because there would be a lot of professional embarrassment for her," he reminds us. "But talking about it with someone would definitely help, and I think Misbah needs to take the lead with that. We have to remember that Imran is still just a kid, and at that age it's hard to take a step back and see what he's become."

Imran's still a kid – it's hard for his mum to see what he's become

Despite his anger issues, Imran's not a bad lad – and having a positive influence like Brooke in his life could actually be a good thing for his alter ego.

"Imran has a side to him where he can be very nice and caring, and that comes out when he's with Brooke," insists Ijaz. "You can see that he's not some monster, that's just what he turns into with Misbah.

"I think the viewers would rather Brooke ends up with Ollie, though," he continues. "They're already talking about a 'Brollie' romance on social media!"

Inside Soap is hoping that Imran and Misbah will get the professional help they need, sooner rather than later. But being given such an intense plot has been a blessing for Ijaz, who first appeared on our screens in September last year.

"This is my first-ever acting job, so I've never played out a storyline like this before," he grins. "Being in Hollyoaks has been amazing so far, and I learn something new every day. I've been here for a year, and I've already been involved in two stunts, so I'm very lucky. I'm having a really great time!"

Sarah Ellis

THE TRUTH BEHIND THE DRAMA

Hollyoaks worked with local charities to make sure the details of Imran's abuse were true to life. As well as Sefton Women's & Children's Aid, the show got advice from Family Lives, who were pleased to help it raise awareness of the issue.

"We frequently receive calls to our helpline from parents who are scared of their child, often feel ashamed and embarrassed, and don't know what to do," said a spokesperson when the plot launched. "Raising awareness of the prevalence of child-on-parent violence is key to enabling parents to speak out about it and find support. No parent should suffer alone."

“Matty is worried no one will ever understand”

WHILE VICTORIA WRECKS HIS ALTER EGO'S ROMANCE WITH NEW GIRL ABBY, ACTOR ASH PALMISCIANO CAN'T WAIT FOR WHAT HAPPENS NEXT...

“This is Matty's first rejection from a girl since his gender transition,” admits Ash Palmisciano, who plays Matty, as he reveals his budding relationship with Abby will be scuppered by close pal Victoria this week. “He's embarrassed, and worried that this will be his life now – that nobody will ever understand.”

But while his humiliated alter ego might be gutted now, Ash reckons that the unlimited possibilities that lie in store for Matty are already an exciting prospect...

Is Abby really set to dump Matty after Victoria tells her about his transgender status this week?

Yep – she's not cool with it. Matty's been under pressure to tell her since they first met, but can't find the right moment. Then Victoria sees Abby upset at the Woolpack, and wrongly assumes Matty's told her, so lays into her for being unsympathetic. Matty takes this to heart and thinks Victoria's done it on purpose – it's explosive.

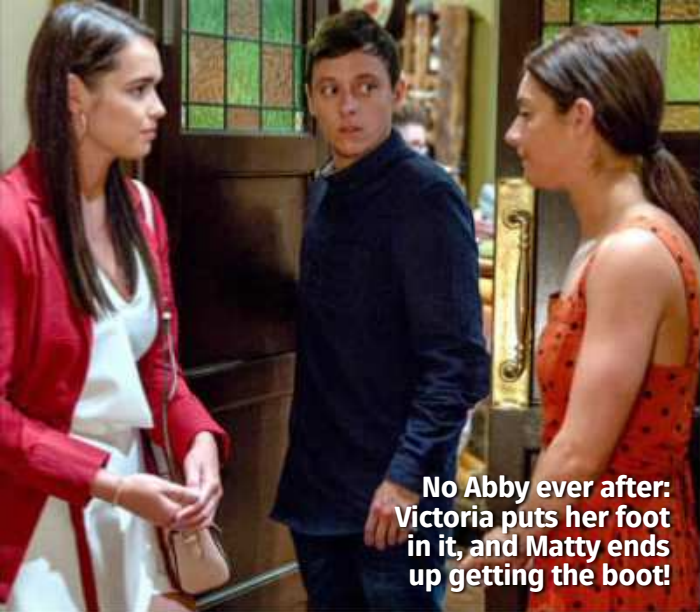

But Victoria's already a bit upset with Matty before all of this, because he's stood her up on his birthday...

Poor Vic. When Matty asks her to help him celebrate his birthday, she books the day off to do something special. She texts him the day before saying, "See you tomorrow" – but he forgets to reply, then Abby rocks up at the pub to meet Matty. So she's not happy.

We'd been hoping Victoria and Matty might end up together – but this doesn't bode well for a future romance, does it?

I don't know what will happen now. After the Abby thing, they're not even friends!

Matty's been warmly received by viewers since arriving in the Dales. Where do you see the character going?

Who knows? That's what's so exciting, there are so many possibilities. There's obviously all the transgender stuff to cover – but also, who is he? What is he good at? There are subjects that I don't think have ever been shown on TV as well – following a transgender person after their transition, living their life.

Corrie's Hayley Cropper was the first transgender character in soap – what did you make of her story?

Julie Hesmondhalgh, who played Hayley, smashed it. To Coronation Street viewers, Hayley was just Hayley, and that's what I'd really like to happen – for Matty to just be Matty.

As a transgender actor playing a transgender character, how would you say your experience compares with Matty's?

My own life is different from Matty's – I've had family around me from the start. But although Matty's story isn't the same, it's helped having insight into how he might feel. Eventually, though, I'm hoping that we'll get to a point where there are lots of great actors, a few of which just happen to be transgender. That's what I'd like for me and my life, that viewers see me simply as Ash, who's an actor...

Cassius EXPOSED!

Neighbours star Joe Davidson talks about his character's big secret...

The moment Neighbours fans have been waiting for finally arrives this week, as we find out what Cassius has been hiding! Inside Soap has been sworn to secrecy about the plot until the episode goes to air – but star Joe Davidson, who plays Cassius, tells us there are many theories doing the rounds...

"The one I really liked was that Cassius is a friend of Tyler's from prison, and he's been sent to Erinsborough to look after Piper," he exclaims. "Or that he hated Tyler, so he's got together with Piper as revenge!"

Cassius and Piper's romance has certainly caused uproar among the loyal viewers, who were big fans of her romance with ex-boyfriend Tyler. And one person in particular has been voicing his upset at Piper moving on so quickly.

"Travis [Burns, who played Tyler] has been attempting to troll me online!" chuckles Joe.

"He keeps replying to my Instagram posts with '#TyperForever'! But it's all a bit of fun – and you never know, there might be a potential face-off between Cassius and Tyler at some point in the future."

He may not be Tyler, but Cassius has certainly gained a few fans of his own, thanks mainly to his topless gardening. However, Joe reckons that whipping off his clothes on screen is no big deal.

"I'm from the Gold Coast, and up there people don't wear shirts unless they have to!" he insists. "I live 400 metres from the beach, so most of the time I just walk there in my Speedos.

Who cares?

It's so hot that everyone else is doing the exact same thing!"

Piper down: Joe is getting some stick for his alter ego's relationship

10 totally true FACTS about... Lucy Pargeter

YOUR InsideSoap BRIEFING ON THE WOMAN BEHIND EMMERDALE'S CHAS...

1 Lucy Kate Pargeter was born on 1 March 1977 – and as a young actress, she trained at the Central Junior Television Workshop and New College in her home town of Nottingham. Lucy credits her family for encouraging her to fulfil her dreams of becoming a star. “You have to be determined and never give up,” she says. “My parents stuck by me and said, ‘Keep going, because it will happen, and we’ll keep supporting you until it does’. They’re still supporting me now!”

3 Lucy first turned up as Chastity ‘Chas’ Dingle in Emmerdale for a short stint in 2002 – as a stripper at a Dingle stag night – before moving over to rival ITV soap Crossroads, to play lounge singer Helen Raven between 2002 and 2003. However, when Crossroads came to an end, Lucy moved back to Emmerdale to reprise her role as Chas. Since then, Chas has become a permanent fixture in the Dales.

2 Before finding soap success, Lucy guest-starred in dramas such as Soldier Soldier and Dalziel And Pascoe. She even had a crack at the big screen, when she played the role of Brenda in the 2002 movie adaptation of Anita & Me. However, it wasn’t long before she landed her most famous role...

4 Lucy has been with her football coach fiancé Rudi Coleano for many years, and the couple have three little girls. Lucy’s eldest daughter, Lola, was born back in 2005, but Lola’s two sisters didn’t arrive until 12 years later, after Lucy underwent IVF treatment. “Getting pregnant can be – and often is, as you get older – an awful lot harder,” she explained. Thankfully, having undergone two rounds of IVF treatment, Lucy gave birth to twin girls, Missy and Betsy, on 13 April 2017.

5 Despite a whirlwind romance, the couple have yet to marry, having been engaged for 15 years since Lucy first popped the question! "We were engaged after two weeks and then I got pregnant after six months," she says. "Then there was work, our little girl Lola and everything else happened!" But despite the lack of wedding band, Lucy has two engagement rings, as Rudi proposed too! "I bought the first ring and he bought the second," she shares.

7 Her singing career wasn't completely over after Paperdolls split up, though – Lucy later popped up on ITV's Celebrity Stars In Their Eyes in 2004, performing as Baby Spice Emma Bunton. A couple of years after that in 2006, Lucy entered the reality singing competition Soapstar Superstar, and she did extremely well – finishing in third place. Congrats, Lucy!

6 Lucy once aspired to be a pop star, and with two pals she formed the all-girl trio Paperdolls, who tried to steal the Crown of Pop from the likes of the Spice Girls and All Saints. Paperdolls released their only song in the autumn of 1998 – a catchy little ditty called Gonna Make You Blush – which exploded into the UK singles chart at... No 65. That very same week, All Saints entered the list a whole 64 places higher, topping the chart with Bootie Call. Well, that's show business.

8 It's not just singing contests that Lucy has taken part in. The gallant star entered the jungle in 2013, for the 13th series of ITV's I'm A Celebrity... Get Me Out Of Here!. Despite facing the terrors of the bushtucker trials, Lucy says that the bravest thing she ever did was to jump out of the helicopter at the start of the series. "I'd wanted to do that for years, and that show gave me the opportunity," she explained.

9 Lucy has proved that she's quite a brainbox, winning a huge £50,000 for charity on a celebrity edition of Who Wants To Be A Millionaire?, alongside Danny Miller, aka her on-screen son Aaron. She also contributed to a team that won £15,000 on ITV's The Chase – which is no easy feat when you're facing The Governess. What a clever clogs!

Lucy is a keen horse-lover, and she and her teenage daughter regularly spend their leisure time riding together. "My family bred horses and show ponies, so I began riding at an early age," explains the actress. "Although I don't have a horse now, Lola and I go riding once a week." It sounds like horse play!

"Everyone is working so hard to create the best drama they can," grins Tony Clay, aka Halfway. "So if EastEnders wins, it'd give everyone a boost, knowing people are behind the show. That's what we want!"

Over the past year, we've been wowed by the heartbreak of Shakil's stabbing, the horror of Lauren and Abi's fall from the Vic, and the thrill of the Albert Square heist – and with the story of Stuart's sinister grip on the Carter clan getting more tense by the day, that's just the half of it!

So, get comfy as the stars of Walford take a look back at their brilliant year...

VOTE FOR EASTENDERS IN THE INSIDE SOAP AWARDS AT WWW.INSIDESOAP.CO.UK

“I feel as if I’ve been nominated for an Oscar!”

LORRAINE STANLEY
Karen Taylor

The Taylor clan pitched up in Walford last year as the neighbours from hell, but oh how quickly they melted our hearts. Mum

Karen is as funny as she is feisty – and the star behind her, Lorraine Stanley, is the life and soul of our photo shoot. In fact, the actors who play her offspring tell us she's even more hilarious off screen than she is when the cameras are rolling – and we whole-heartedly agree!

Hi, Lorraine! Is it possible that your EastEnders kids are better behaved than you are?

Ha ha, yes! The roles do reverse and they are like parents to me, because I'm like a child. Clair [Norris, who plays Karen's daughter Bernadette] is way more mature than me [laughs]!

Your nomination for Funniest Female feels very apt!

Thank you! I'm all about the comedy, so I actually feel as though I've been nominated for an Oscar. The Inside Soap Awards are the Oscars of the soap world, of course, so I'm very pleased.

Did you know that your co-star Tameka Empson, who plays Kim, has won this award a whopping five times?

I do know that, but move over Tameka, as there's a new funny girl in town! When I see her next time, I'll walk past her in the corridor and whisper, "I've got this love!" No, I'm only joking – she is brilliant and I love doing scenes with her. Maybe we could tie for this award?

Do you have a favourite laugh-out-loud moment of Karen's from the past year?

I loved Karen's scenes with Kat. I've watched Jessie [Wallace] over the years and she has always been one of my faves – so to film that big scrap with her in the pub, where Kat pushed Karen over the table and it was all very camp, I loved it.

Who in the cast makes you laugh?

Letitia Dean [aka Sharon] makes me howl. I can't look her in the eye properly when we're doing a scene. And Danny Walters, who plays Keanu – there is something about Danny that cracks me up. He has a little twinkle in his eye and that's it, we're off!

Seeing as you mention Tish and Danny, it's been rumoured in the press that Sharon and Keanu are to have an affair. If the whispers are true, would Karen approve of her son's new woman?

Absolutely not! "She's old enough to be his grandmother – that's disgusting!" is what I imagine Karen would say. They've sort of made up now, but Karen did punch Sharon when she first arrived in the Square, so there is a bit of beef there. Can you imagine if that actually happens?

What about a new man for Karen? Do you have your eye on any character in particular?

I don't think so... Maybe Stuart? She likes a bad boy! I've always said she might have a bit of a thing for Phil actually. Perhaps if something were to happen between Sharon and Keanu, Karen could have a go on Phil to get back at Sharon! I can see Karen with Billy, as well – but she would just wind him up, wouldn't she? Look, I've gone from nothing here to quite a few!

Do you feel as though the perception of the Taylor family has changed since you first joined the show?

Definitely. When we first arrived, the idea was that you didn't want them living next door to you. But then slowly you found out that the Taylors have heart, and that Karen would do anything for her family. The irony of it is that she is possibly the best mum on the Square!

You were introduced by a different producer, so were you nervous when the new boss took over?

Naturally part of you thinks, 'Are they going to like the Taylors?' – but from the start, we knew that John Yorke really liked us as a family. I trusted and had faith in the work that we were doing, so I wasn't too worried.

It was a genius move to put Karen in the launderette with Dot. Has that been fun?

That's a big highlight for me actually. I was doing a scene with June [Brown, aka Dot], and in my head, I thought, 'I'm folding a sheet with June Brown. It's Dot. Don't panic!' Afterwards, I think Karen said to her, "You ain't got a fag, have ya?" and Dot gave her a cigarette. That made it for me!

SNEAK PREVIEW!

"I've been filming some quite serious stuff with different characters who I don't usually work with," grins Lorraine. "Karen has some emotional moments coming up that are quite funny in parts – just because she is such a transparent person. She can say whatever she wants and still be able to get away with it! "There is lots more to come from the Taylor family," continues the star. "So many layers, so many dads... we have no end of stories to tell!"

It's a shame Oliver Reed isn't with us any more, as he would have been great to play our dad!" poses star Ricky Champ, while he and Tony Clay join us for their first-ever joint interview since they began playing on-screen brothers Stuart and Halfway. "I'm pinning my hopes on Robert De Niro," chips in Tony. "That would be a dream!" It never hurts to imagine, but in the absence of a wider family unit, the Highway men have made a big enough impact on their own. Dopey-but-loveable Halfway has earned Tony two nods for Best Newcomer and Funniest Male, while Ricky's hypnotic performance as psycho Stuart has put him in contention for our Best Bad Boy trophy...

What were your first impressions of each other when you met?

Ricky I thought it was good casting as we have similar noses!

Tony Ha ha! I'd seen Rick in a few things, so I knew of him – but when we first started doing scenes together, I just knew that this geezer was talented. He wasn't fazed, just got on with it and I loved that so much.

Ricky Aw, me too, man! There is a lot of love here at EastEnders. It's a very nice time to be in Walford.

Let's talk about your award nominations. The Highway brothers aren't doing too badly in that department!

Ricky You mean 'Big Tony Two Gongs' over here? He completely deserves it, I'm thoroughly happy for him.

Has it sunk in for you, Tony?

Tony It's incredible and I feel extremely grateful. A lot of the time in acting, you never really know whether you're doing a good job or not. So when something like this happens, it makes you feel that you're on the right path, or at least doing something right!

Your mum is a big soap fan – how did she react to the news?

Tony When I first told her, she was like, "Aargh!!!" and I had to say, "Mum, I haven't won it yet, calm down"! To be able to tell your mum and dad that you've been nominated for awards, or just for them to see you on TV every night, is a real honour for me. From the struggle through drama school, to finally making some ground, it's nice that I can make them proud.

What's been the highlight of your EastEnders journey so far?

Tony Probably announcing myself to the Square. One minute I was shaking Danny Dyer's hand, and the next I was shooting Mick! Thankfully everyone was very nice about it when I kicked open the door of a van and it flew back and hit me in the face!

And Ricky, you broke a bone in your foot recently when Stuart stamped on a table! How are you feeling now?

Ricky Completely recovered! The table was designed really cleverly to implode, and the props department said, "Don't worry, if it doesn't break we'll just saw it a bit more," but I thought, 'No, it's breaking'! It was a tiny fracture. I just made it out to be much worse than it was to get sympathy! [laughs]

Could you be friends with Stuart in real life?

Ricky No! Any situation Stuart is in, I have, 'What would Ricky do?' as a point of reference – and a large percentage of the time the result is the polar opposite of that! There is a side to him where you think, 'Actually I could go for a beer with Stuart' – until something happens and he switches.

Who do you reckon would win in a fight? Stuart or Coronation Street's Pat Phelan?

Ricky I'd like to think Stuart! The thing about him is that he's not your average villain. Stuart's not just about beating people up. He's very manipulative, and can handle himself equally in a battle of intelligence as he can a tear-up down the boozer.

How about Phil? Could he give Stuart a run for his money?

Ricky Blimey, I think the Carter family is giving him a run for his money as it is! But if a scene with Phil Mitchell is written for me, I'll stop crying and totally love having a scene with Steve [McFadden, who plays him]. Those two together would be a very interesting dynamic to explore, as you wouldn't want to mess with either of them!

What reaction has Stuart's twisted behaviour received from the general public?

Ricky My wife and I have both realised that we are being noticed more. I think that if I was playing someone a bit more accessible, people would come up and speak to me straight away – but instead I get a lot of looks where I see them clock me and think to themselves, 'Oh God, that's him'. Initially that just happened, though I reckon I'm winning them over slightly now. They come up to me in the street and say, "You're disgusting!" – but in a good way!

Did you know from the beginning that Stuart would be this bad?

Ricky No actually, I didn't realise he was going to be as bad as he is. What is interesting for me is that the awful, manipulative and violent stuff is such a contrast to when the cameras aren't rolling. As a viewer you would think that Stuart's stuff is devastating to shoot – and yes, it is challenging and hard sometimes – but in retrospect, the only memories I have are positive ones. There's a very good energy backstage at EastEnders.

What is the most amount of fun you've ever had on a day working together?

Ricky Every day is fun, but sometimes at the end of a long shooting week on a Friday, it can get a bit delirious! When tackling intense or delicate storylines, the scenes can be tough – but as soon as the cameras stop rolling, you just have to release from that.

Tony I think it's about taking the work seriously, but not taking yourself too seriously.

How do you go home and switch off from Stuart's dark side, Ricky?

Ricky Well, luckily for me, I have a very beautiful family unit at home and I'm blessed. I have a beautiful 10-month-old daughter called Beatrix who just vanquishes any darkness.

How have you found juggling work with a young baby?

Ricky Tiring yet beautiful. My wife isn't working, she is with the baby so it's a bit of a juggling game. It's just as rewarding at home as it is at work, though. I'm in a really good place.

Have your other halves met each other yet?

Tony My girlfriend Liv and Ricky's wife really looked out for each other at the British Soap Awards. It was nice, especially for Liv, as it was the first time that we'd done anything like that.

Ricky They sat in the royal box and had better seats than us! I have no idea how they managed to wangle that. Tony and I were sitting right at the front – we looked up and there were those two princesses giving us the royal wave!

SNEAK PREVIEW!

"Stuart, Halfway and the Carter family have a big autumn ahead of them – and trust me when I say that Stuart is going to get much, much worse," teases Ricky. "He is going to be very driven in order to achieve what he wants."

"You'll see even more of Stuart's manipulative side and find out whether blood is thicker than water for Halfway," adds Tony. "They'll always be brothers, but how long can Halfway let Stuart go on the way that he is? He's set to feel really tortured over it..."

CLAIR NORRIS

Bernadette Taylor

“I can play chess for real now!”

Bernadette is the glue that holds the Taylors together – not to mention a fab friend to both Ted and Tiffany, and a hot-shot chess player! On our shoot, star Clair Norris is pleased to be supporting her on-screen mum Lorraine Stanley (Karen) and brother Zack Morris (Keegan), and enjoys striking a pose for the camera, too...

The Taylor clan seems a close-knit bunch off set. Do you have fun?

We do. Even when we're not filming, we tend to end up gravitating back towards each other, or we're chatting on our family WhatsApp group! We're always having Taylor family banter. There are lots of inside jokes!

Are the boys protective over you, like brothers would be?

Yes they are, but then so is Lorraine as a mum. People say to me, “Ain't Danny [Walters, who plays Keanu] and Zack good-looking,” and I'm like, “Ugh, no – they are my brothers!” I see Lorraine as my second mum – any troubles I've had, my on-screen family has always been there for me.

When did you realise people had taken Bernie into their hearts?

We've said people saw a different side to our characters after Bernadette suffered her miscarriage. I worked with Lou and we rehearsed it, and I spoke to a midwife to ask questions, to make it as truthful as possible. A nurse actually stopped me in the street and told me I'd done a good job!

What would you say has surprised you most on screen this year?

The chess story! I actually know how to play a little bit now. Charlie Winter, who plays Hunter, is teaching me as he learned from his grandad. I would never be able to enter any competitions like Bernadette, but at least I sort of get it!

What did you think about Bernie's sexuality being explored through her bond with Tiffany?

I thought it was wicked. The only time we've seen Bernadette have feelings was with Callum right at the start, and we've never seen her fit in with anyone else. So I think as soon as Tiff came along and showed an interest in Bernadette, it caught her off-guard. She has these feelings there and doesn't know how to deal with them. She knows she loves Tiff as a friend, but is there more to it?

SNEAK PREVIEW!

“I've been working with Maisie Smith [Tiffany], as Bernie and Tiffany's friendship is set to be tested,” reveals Clair. “Tiff is going to get herself into a bit of trouble, and Bernie is trying to warn her. But will she listen? Who knows?!”

Inside Soap has had the pleasure of meeting rising star Zack Morris on a few occasions – and every time, we're in awe of what a lovely, down-to-earth and pleasant young man he is. The star joined EastEnders as Shakil Kazemi's disruptive friend Keegan, who was such a success that he was soon followed by an entire family. In response, Zack has stepped up to the plate and showed us his acting mettle – particularly for the role Keegan played in Walford's hard-hitting knife drama...

As one of Inside Soap's nominated Best Actors, are you up to any challenge?

Absolutely! Throw everything you've got at me and I'll give it a solid go!

What did you think when you found out you'd made the cut?

I thought someone was having me on. The first I heard of it was through fan support on Twitter, and I couldn't believe it – so when I saw the actual voting page, it dawned on me: 'I'm up for Best Actor, that's crazy'!

Has it sunk in that you're up against the likes of your co-stars Steve McFadden (Phil) and Danny Dyer (Mick)?

No, and I still can't believe that. There are so many iconic faces in that category, and then there's me.

What would it mean to walk away with the trophy?

You'll have to ask me that afterwards! Do you know what? Being nominated in a Best Actor category at 19 years old, I couldn't ask for anything more. If you'd said to me two years ago that I'd even be in EastEnders, I would've thought you were having a laugh! The fact that I'm in it and nominated against these guys – not just in this show but all the soaps – is nuts for me anyway. If I don't pick it up, I'm buzzing with that – and if I do, that's just the cherry on top.

How did you feel when you learned that Keegan and Shakil would both be stabbed, but that you'd be spared and Shaheen Jafargholi's character would die?

It was a lot to take in and very bittersweet, as the whole point of Keegan to start with was that he was Shakil's mate. I wouldn't be in the show if it wasn't for that, so when we were told about the knife story, it was mixed emotions – from, 'Wow this is absolutely necessary and relevant' to 'Oh, Shaheen is leaving'. I lost my best mate both on screen and off, but that is part and parcel of being in a soap.

What was it like filming the action scenes with Danny Dyer, when Mick rushed Keegan to hospital?

We were filming for three nights on location, so it was a long old shoot for me, Danny and the guy who played the paramedic. I mostly work with my on-screen family in the show, so it was nice to work closely with Danny and for us to get to know each other on a personal level. Not many people can say that they've had the opportunity to do that!

Who else are you rooting for on EastEnders to win awards this year?

My mum [Lorraine Stanley, who plays Karen], of course! And Ricky Champ [aka Stuart] as well for Best Bad Boy. I remember when I first met Ricky after watching him in [BBC sitcom] Him & Her – that was one of my favourite programmes ever – so I was a little bit of a fan boy when I first met him. Tony Clay [Halfway], too – he's a great actor and smashes the role that he plays. I'd like EastEnders to clean up with awards this year!

SNEAK PREVIEW!

"Keegan still feels guilty about what happened to Shakil, and becomes very paranoid – he can't walk down the street in the same way as he did before," reveals Zack. "It could have been Keegan who ended up dead. He's lost his best friend, so it has really affected him. He's not the type of person to ask for any help, though, so it will be interesting to see what happens..."

Rainie Branning

“Is Rainie in love with Max?
It’s debatable!”

I'm an Inside Soap virgin!" giggles actress Tanya Franks, as we sit down for a chat during her first-ever photo shoot with us.

"As for Rainie... well, not so much!" It's true, Rainie has been splashed across the pages of our magazine on and off for 11 years – but it's since EastEnders bosses brought her back as a regular character that we've had the opportunity to fully appreciate her. The big twist, of course, was that Rainie was Max's secret sham bride in a calculated bid to regain custody of his granddaughter Abi – resulting in a Best Bad Girl nomination for Tanya, and a nod for her and co-star Jake Wood (Max) in our Best Partnership category...

Congratulations on being up for two Inside Soap Awards, Tanya! How does it feel?

It's so surprising. I didn't expect this at all, so thank you very much!

Is it fun playing a bad girl?

It is, I love playing Rainie. If she doesn't feel that something is right or she thinks that justice needs to be done in a situation, she'll find a way to make it happen – even if it's not the right decision.

What is interesting is that now Rainie isn't taking substances, I don't know what she is capable of. She is forever challenging and surprising me.

We can't get enough of Max and Rainie's scheming! What do you think is the secret to the success of that relationship?

It has surprised both myself and Jake. I think that what gives Max and Rainie common ground is that nobody likes either of them! They've both done enough bad things to warrant not being liked in many ways, so they only really have each other right now.

You and Jake have hit it off really well, haven't you?

Yes, absolutely. We're very different, but actually we have a similar sense of humour in a lot of ways, so we do get quite silly at times. And we tend to work together learning our lines, so that really helps too.

Was there a particular moment on screen when it really felt like the two of you clicked?

Straight away actually. As soon as we sat down and Rainie appeared in that wedding dress, Jake and I said, "That's it"! It was hilarious. We couldn't help but laugh, as the two of them getting married was such an unlikely scenario.

They're like the Bonnie and Clyde of EastEnders!

It is like that! When our boss John Yorke asked if I'd be interested in coming back, I thought, 'Wow okay – if it's that, I'm definitely interested!'

Do you think that Rainie is in love with Max?

It's debatable. I think that Rainie is falling in love with being needed by somebody, and she is also falling in love with the fact that he's giving her opportunities. He could just be another Branning notch on her bedpost in some ways, but that's not how she sees it. For now, the bigger picture is much more alluring. What is also worth mentioning is that Rainie always feels as though she has something to prove. She is constantly dealing with feeling worthless in every way, shape or form – so as long as she has this mission with Max and the chance to be a mum to baby Abi, then she has some self-worth.

Does it feel mad that you have been playing Rainie for over a decade?

Yes, it's crazy! It's been a funny journey and one that I didn't expect. I came in to do two episodes in 2007, and here we are in 2018 and Rainie is still on board. I've nipped in and out – and every time, there have been real high moments for me as an actress. That whole addiction storyline with Phil was intense, and massively challenging for me. Each time I come back, I have to remind myself of who and what Rainie is – yet I've always said that as long as I love her, I'll never run out on her.

SNEAK PREVIEW!

"Rainie will come to realise just how much is at stake for her in life," teases Tanya. "We haven't filmed the decision as to whether Max and Rainie get custody of baby Abi, but I have an idea of where that story is going and think the audience will be excited by what happens, as it might not be what they're expecting.

"The one thing that I'm finding out about Rainie is her loyalty to this situation, and that actually Max and Rainie's partnership is very strong," adds the star. "She wants to feel wanted, be a mum and have a proper relationship. It's all about the package!"

When Shaheen Jafargholi arrives at our shoot, the whole room goes berserk! It's been a while since the other cast members have seen him after his character, Shakil, tragically lost his life in EastEnders' hard-hitting knife-crime plot – and so they are thrilled that Shaheen has taken time out from his new Casualty schedule (read on for that gossip!) to celebrate nominations for Best Exit and Best Show-stopper for the storyline itself...

It's great to have you with us again, Shaheen! Has it been a while since you last saw your EastEnders pals?

I think that the last time we were all in the same room together was back in June, so it's really nice to see them properly again as opposed to the odd text here and there. Relationships like that never die – we'll always have a special bond.

Was it bittersweet finding out that you would be leaving Walford with a big story?

That was one of the biggest things for me when I spoke to John Yorke about leaving. You hear about the classic 'back of the taxi' exit, which is fine, but I was very excited by the idea that if I was going to go, it would be for such a great cause – and hopefully leave a message behind. I was really grateful to John for trusting me with that.

Since Shakil's death, have you had people giving you big hugs in the supermarket?

Yes! It was so bizarre. I was prepared for the story to have an impact due to the nature of it, but the week after it happened, every five minutes I would have someone come up to me and say, "You're alive"! Shakil had tragically died on their TV screens – and there I was the very next day, walking around a shopping centre. It's been overwhelming, and the reaction exceeded all of our expectations.

Was it a surprise to hear that you were nominated?

The last thing I expected was anybody recognising me for an award of any sort, so I was very shocked when EastEnders told me. The entire point of us doing the story was for us to make some sort of difference to this horrible issue that is happening, so for it to land with the audience the way it has done is amazing.

Have you been tuning into the aftermath of the story?

I'm not going to lie – it was a bit weird to see a funeral with my face plastered everywhere. Also, seeing Bonnie [Langford, who plays Shakil's mum Carmel] so upset and dishevelled was bizarre to watch, as she is the happiest person that I know. But that is what people go through, sadly. I thought that EastEnders did such a phenomenal job with that episode.

Have you spoken to Bonnie?

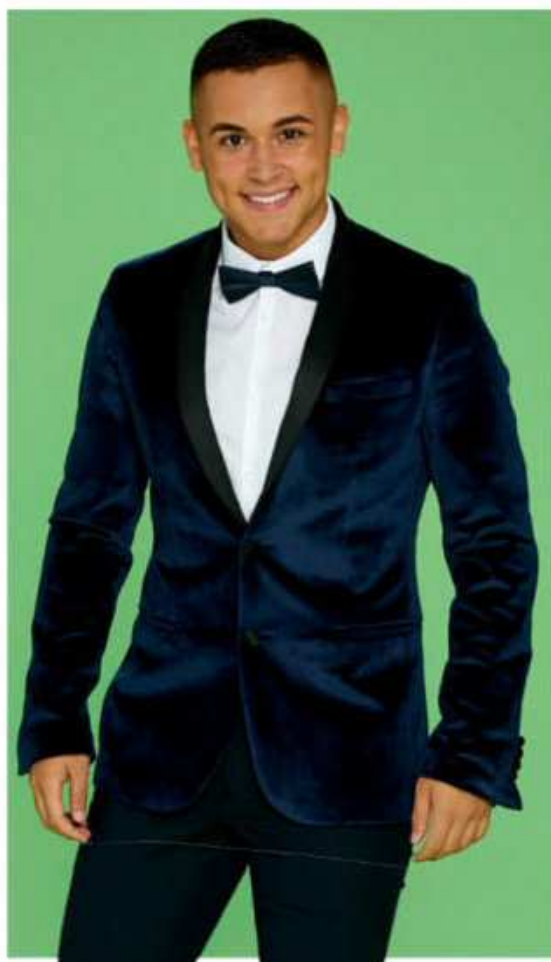

Me and Bonnie are besties, we speak all the time. She's been filling me in on how it's all been going, and I'm excited that she's going back into the theatre to do 42nd Street. Shakil's death was a hard shoot to do, for myself and Zack [Morris, who plays Keegan] especially. I don't know how it feels to be stabbed, so I really tried to put a lot of work into making it come across as realistic as possible. For me, that was two months' work, whereas Bonnie has been doing this since way before I left. I don't know how she's done it, but she is amazing. I'm so proud of her.

Why should Inside Soap readers vote EastEnders as their Best Soap?

With this storyline in particular, and everyone nominated, EastEnders delivers the best version of real-life scenarios that inform people. So I'd love the audience to vote for that reason.

SNEAK PREVIEW!

While the fallout of Shakil's death continues in the Square, Shaheen is filming for his new role as Casualty nurse Marty! "It's weird, and I feel like it's happened so soon after EastEnders!" he exclaims. "Marty is the opposite of Shakil, which is fun to play. Reading a script for a different person, my first thought was, 'How do I go about this?', but it clicked straight away!"

ALL'S FAIR IN OVEN WAR?

If Carol Decker has china in her hand this week, it's probably because she's about to turn a chocolate fondant out on to it. We get to make that laboured joke because the T'Pau singer is one of five stars taking on the Celebrity MasterChef challenge in the first heat of series 15 – alongside actor Keith Allen, singer Josh Cuthbert, presenter Michelle Ackerley and former rugby player Martin Bayfield. But this isn't the first time that Carol has appeared with judge Gregg Wallace...

"I did a show with Gregg years ago called Just The Two Of Us," Carol reveals to Inside TV. "It was kind of like 'Strictly Come Singing'. We went out in the first round!"

The first task that the celebs face in this series is a mystery box of ingredients that they must use to put together a dish for John and Gregg. Carol admits she was anxious about what it had in store for her, but was thrilled when she spotted one particular item in the box.

"I was uber-relieved to find mince, because that's my go-to food if in doubt!" she laughs. "I can make home-made burgers, chilli, spag bol, cottage pie. One of my girlfriends says if you come for lunch at my place, it's 'How would you like your mince?'. I don't invite her any more!"

The ingredients may have been familiar, but the setting was definitely alien and we've seen plenty of celebrities go to pieces in the past because they were thrown off by not being in their own kitchens. So how did Carol cope with the MasterChef studio?

"Everybody's really quiet when you walk in – it's like a library!" she recalls. "You have to stand at your station and really pay attention and then they go, 'Start now!' There's no talking or anything, everyone's super-focused. John and Gregg come and lean over your shoulder – John interferes quite a lot! Some suggestions are great, at other times I'll go, 'Let me get on with it!'"

Fortunately Carol bonded quickly with her fellow contestants – but she admits there comes a point when they have to begin viewing each other as competition...

"We were all very supportive of each other," she assures us. "As you get through the different rounds, you have to start outwitting each other – not just in your cooking, but in what you choose to cook and impress the judges with. It's a shame really, you do have to beat each other. The challenges are lovely because they draw you together, but you end up working side-by-side with somebody that you might eventually have to beat, so that can be hard. It's a bit like The Hunger Games! 'I love you, Keith, but I'm afraid I'm going to have to kill you!'"

Actress Amy-Leigh Hickman picks her dream viewing...

The Story of Tracy Beaker

The most recent drama that I've been wowed by is The Split. It's just really well-written, and the cast is amazing. It's really clever, a really good piece.

I was in it [as Carmen], I used to really love watching Tracy Beaker as a kid. So it felt like a dream for me when I went on to my favourite TV show! And I used to really like watching old films with my grandad, such as Calamity Jane – that was the film that made me want to become an actress.

I don't have a specific programme that I've always said I'd love to be in, but my dream role is to win a part like Rosamund Pike in Gone Girl where she played a psychopath. I remember reading the book and then watching the film, and being fascinated by them. Whether it's a sitcom, a drama or a film, I'd love to play someone a bit crazy. I think it would be really interesting!

● Catchy Amy as Nasreen Paracha in the finale of Ackley Bridge Channel 4 Tuesday

I've just started watching an old comedy – well, not that old – Extras, the Ricky Gervais show. Everyone kept saying, "Amy, it's your kind of comedy". Now I see what the hype is all about! Even if you're not an actor and you can't relate to the industry, it's funny.

I'm not ashamed to say this – I love Love Island! I adore trash TV to unwind with, it helps me relax. And I like that the whole nation has fallen in love with it – you get people that you don't expect to like it watching Love Island. I can't put my finger on why!

WITH THE RETURN OF BAKE OFF just around the corner, we'd like to draw your attention to this addictive series. Three amateur bakers attempt to replicate professional-standard, and hugely complicated, confectionary and cakes – mostly missing by a mile. But everyone's in on the joke – host Nicole Byer is acerbic but genuinely kind and encouraging, and the professional judges on the show always offer all the contestants constructive feedback. The cakes themselves may not look too pretty, but this series is a moreish treat that we always want an extra slice of.

WHO DO YOU THINK YOU ARE? | BBC1 MONDAY

A GOOD SPORT...

JONNIE PEACOCK DISCOVERS A KINDRED SPIRIT IN THE FINAL EPISODE OF THE CURRENT SERIES...

The current run of Who Do You Think You Are? ends this week, with Paralympic gold medallist Jonnie Peacock digging into his family history. One of the first things he finds in his search is another sporting Johnnie – his maternal grandfather Johnnie Roberts, who broke goal-scoring records as a young amateur footballer and was scouted by Leeds, only for his father to turn the scout away on Johnnie's behalf. Inside TV chatted to Jonnie about what he discovered...

Home goal: Another family record breaker

Did you connect with your grandfather's story?

He was clearly somebody who was so talented – it's really unfortunate that he didn't get the opportunity to go and do that trial for Leeds, but when you find out more about his family and what they had to go through, it all makes sense.

BARE WITH ME

ANNA RICHARDSON TELLS US WHY HER NOW WORLD-FAMOUS NUDE DATING SHOW MATTERS...

“I’ve put fake tan on because I’m going to a party,” Anna Richardson tells us on the phone as we chat about the new series of Naked Attraction. “But I’ve forgotten to wash it off, so I’ve got orange toes and orange ankles! I’m going to have to do something radical to get back to a normal colour...”

We don’t generally expect chats to be quite so open, but then we imagine that hosting a naked dating show puts things into perspective! And Anna says she’s incredibly proud of what the show is doing.

“When the first series came out there was a lot of negative press about it,” she recalls. “I robustly defended it and said to people, ‘You’re missing

Edward [Johnnie's father] wanted him to be able to support his family. He didn't want him worrying about not having enough money to be able to buy them food.

Footballers didn't earn much then – nowadays he'd probably be a millionaire...

Exactly! Somebody breaking records like that and scoring goals so easily wouldn't go unnoticed now. I think he probably would have had incredible opportunities, and probably would have earned a nice little wage – things have changed slightly over the past couple of years!

Louisa Voss, your four times great-grandmother, had a reputation for "bad character" but was a pioneering woman who stood up for herself by taking men to court. What did you make of her story?

She was an incredible person. I'd known nothing at all about that side of the family, and finding out how independent she was – she really was an incredible woman. She was a very strong person who I don't think felt she needed a man, and she could do it all on her own. That was definitely very ahead of her time, I think!

the point – we're opening a conversation about what we find attractive, body positivity, what's 'normal' – and actually the press came on board and went, 'Oh yeah, this is quite important programming'."

Anna says that continues as we join series three.

"We've got a guy with cystic fibrosis, a life-limiting condition, looking to meet somebody," she shares.

"We've also got, for the first time ever, a polyamorous couple looking for a third person to join in with them. Everyone I've told about that has said, 'Wow' – and that's what I did as well!"

GAME FOR A LAUGH

NISH KUMAR REVEALS HOW THE WORLD CUP FORCED HIM TO MAKE SOME LAST-MINUTE CHANGES...

It seems like a lifetime ago that we were all glued to the World Cup in the belief that football was coming home – but as Inside TV chats to Nish Kumar about The Big Asian Stand-Up, he reveals that the football nearly scuppered filming.

"We had to shift the shooting to earlier in the afternoon because England were in the World Cup semi-final!" he recalls. "If you want evidence that multiculturalism and community cohesion is possible, I give you the example of a room that was about 75 per cent Asian desperately checking its watches at a stand-up gig to make sure that everyone made it to the kick-off."

This week's second and final instalment features sets from Sunil Patel, Ahir Shah, Sukh Ojla, Mark Silcox, and notable sartorial stand-out Mawaan Rizwan.

"It's definitely worth watching for Mawaan's outfit – his set is phenomenal, but his tracksuit is extraordinary," chuckles Nish.

Nish is thrilled to be part of the Big British Asian Summer season, and points out how representation of Asian people on TV has certainly improved in recent years.

"Pre-Goodness Gracious Me, whenever you saw an Asian on TV, you felt worried for them because you were almost certain they were going to be the victim of a racist attack," he reflects. "It's great to reflect the full colour of the British-Asian experience."

Funny man: Nish does what he does best – making people laugh

It's cool for cats

"Basically, celebrities will not shut up," Rick Edwards tells us, when asked how this version of Impossible differs from usual. It's all fun though, as Rick tries to steer them back on to set in time for filming. "There is an element of cat-herding," he laughs, when recalling working with the 18 celebs in this series.

The hardcore quiz show fan has a dream line-up for future series, though: "Those people who think they know everything – Stephen Fry, Germaine Greer and Jeremy Paxman."

And the best fact he's picked up from being on the show?

"In Hong Kong, the Jack Nicholson film As Good As It Gets is marketed as Mr Cat Poop," he chuckles. "I've grasped on to the most salient, useful fact..."

BLIND DATE | Channel 5 8PM

There's never enough Paul O'Grady on our screens, so it's sad to once more say goodbye to Blind Date – particularly when it's clear he's been having so much more fun in this third series. In true Paul fashion, this final episode is all about animals, as he tries to find romance for a guinea pig, a bearded dragon and a Staffie dog. Well, their owners really, who hope that a passion for their four-legged friends will mean Jordan and his dog Lola will pick them. It's this kind of fun chaos that's made us truly fall back in love with the dating show, so hopefully it'll continue in the inevitable fourth series.

UNFORGOTTEN | ITV 9PM

The truth will out

The ending of series one of Unforgotten left us breathless. The ending of series two left us devastated. There weren't any previews of tonight's series three finale available as we wrote this, but if we are to use our previous experience as a yardstick, we're fully prepared to feel quite emotional by the time 10pm rolls around.

Everything seems to be pointing to Tim, following the discovery of some seemingly incriminating items at his home. However, when Jessica and her mother confirm that the objects aren't Hayley's, Cassie and Sunny are very much back where they started. That is, until one final discovery points them in a different direction – and it's set to be particularly painful for Cassie.

DON'T Miss!

EIGHT GO RALLYING: THE ROAD TO SAIGON | BBC2 9PM

Regional variations

Taking a long car journey with your loved ones can be trying at the best of times – so how about a trip covering 3000km over the course of 12 days, and with TV cameras tracking you? Four celebrity teams (Noel Edmonds and his wife Liz, Martin Kemp and his wife Shirly, Andi and Miquita Oliver, and the only non-family team, Tinchy Stryder and Jordan Stephens) will be taking part in a rally from Thailand to Vietnam in some stylish – but not necessarily reliable – classic cars. It doesn't take long for them to start getting very competitive! Let's hope they're all still speaking at the end...

KRYPTON | E4 9PM

It seems we just can't get enough of Superman's early years, as yet another prequel series hits our screens. That said, Smallville ran for 10 seasons, so there's obviously a small-screen demand. This version takes us back two generations before the destruction of Krypton, his home planet. Superman's grandfather, Seg-El, is faced with a heavy choice – save the planet, or allow it to be destroyed in order to ensure his grandson's destiny...

FEAR THE WALKING DEAD | E4 10PM

Everyone hates a traffic jam, but imagine being stuck in one caused by riots because the police are shooting zombies. It's just another day for the survivors – should they stay locked away from sight in a gated community or flee?

THE HEART GUY | Drama 8PM

It's the season finale, but fear not – the Australian drama series will return. Until then, Hugh makes a series of bad choices which leave Penny heartbroken, while Ajax and Hayley have to decide if they're going to get married...

BIG WEEK AT THE ZOO | Channel 5 8PM

That's the way to the zoo

Hurrah! A new animal show! Get set for five episodes, spread over the week, with Helen Skelton and Nick Baker presenting from some of the best zoos in Britain.

They'll also be joined by celebrities – what's a show without celebrities, after all? – to provide a unique insight into what really goes on when conserving the animals.

In tonight's episode, they travel to Chessington Zoo to discover how the animals have kept cool during the longest heatwave since the 70s (no, not by sitting in their pants like us).

Basically you have five days of fantastic beasts to look forward to – including pandas, flamingos, tortoises, orangutans and some zebras actually having a pedicure. Amazing.

SAVING POUNDSTRECHER | Channel 4 9PM

Regional variations

It's the final episode, so there's lots at stake. While other high-street brands are going bust and closing down, there are 6,000 jobs at risk, as well as the family fortune which is invested in the budget store. Of course, that brings a lot of stress with it, and new CEO Chris, who's here to save the company, clashes with owner Aziz over stocking policy. In short, he replaces the responsibility with another staff member, leaving Aziz unhappy. Spoiler: we paid a visit to Poundstretcher at the weekend, so things seemed to have worked out for the company. For now at least...

to your livestock. Over the next two weeks stars such as Louie Spence, ex-Emmerdale star Lorraine Chase (Steph Stokes) and one-time Strictly pro Gleb Savchenko will be herding sheep and driving tractors.

Exam conditions

Never let it be said that the kids of Ackley Bridge don't apply themselves: Jordan leads a plot to intercept a van delivering GCSE papers to the school in tonight's finale, and while it's ultimately unsuccessful, the plan is still impressive in its complexity. If he could just apply that level of dedication to his schoolwork, he'd pass all of his exams with flying colours.

Mandy, bless her, is doing her utmost to convince the lad to knuckle down and focus on his exams so that he can get the grades he needs for art college, but the ongoing problems at the Wilson family home provide some ill-timed distractions. Meanwhile, Mandy is offered a lifeline to keep the school open, but she's unhappy with the compromises involved.

SAVING LIVES AT SEA | BBC2 8PM

Regional variations

Fans of this enlightening series, detailing the important work carried out by the volunteers of the RNLI across the country, will need to keep their wits about them this week – a new series begins tonight, and then episode two follows on Thursday evening, which will be the show's permanent home for the rest of the run. In the opening episode, Salcombe Lifeboat Station in Devon has to deal with two of the highest levels of emergency at sea: a mayday call from a fisherman caught in his own gear, being pulled to the bottom of the sea – and a fire on a boat 15 miles out in the Channel.

CODE BLACK | W 10PM

The lights go out for good at Angels Memorial tonight, as this is the last-ever episode of the emergency medicine drama, but they have chosen to go out in a quiet and contemplative fashion... no, wait, hang on, they're actually going out by crashing a ruddy great plane into the eighth floor of the hospital. And things are no less dramatic away from the hospital as Leanne attends her custody hearing, and Willis makes a heartfelt declaration to Rox.

THE AFFAIR | Sky Atlantic 9PM

There's a double-bill to close the second season tonight, which can only mean one thing: that's right, our always-hilarious 'the end of The Affair' running gag! (We're so sorry.) Ben will be confessing all to Alison, but has the truth come too late?

BURDEN OF TRUTH | Universal 9PM

There's just the one episode on offer tonight after last week's double helping, but it's one packed with incident as Joanna and Billy uncover the source of the toxin. They'll need to tread carefully though, as someone is really keen to silence them.

THE LENNY HENRY BIRTHDAY SHOW | BBC1 8PM

Sixty years young

Those of you wishing to instill a moral message about working hard at school to have a career should look away right now... This programme probably wouldn't even be happening if a then-16-year-old Lenny Henry hadn't bunked off school back in 1975 to appear on TV talent show New Faces (think Britain's Got Talent, but with less botox).

It was the start of a 43-year career that would go on to span not only comedy, but also theatre, music and film. This special show celebrates his 60th birthday, taking a look back over his achievements and also includes brand-new comedy sketches which will tackle topical subjects.

Sir Trevor McDonald presents the show – expect lots of laughs.

HANG UPS | Channel 4 10PM

Things just aren't getting any better for therapist Richard. He has a new business to deal with, as well as an ever-increasing list of personal problems. Particularly when one of his patients reveals something that leaves him fearing for his own life. While money is also an issue, it's cuts elsewhere that are giving him cause for concern – namely those that involve him having a vasectomy in order to enjoy what little time he has with his wife, Karen. Oddly, he's not entirely into the idea of getting the snip, so he turns to his friend Pete in order to save his manhood...

MY ASIAN FAMILY - THE MUSICAL | BBC4 10PM

“There’s a tradition among Indian people of telling stories through song and dance, and that’s how you’re going to learn about my family,” shares narrator Jyoti in this all-singing, all-dancing documentary.

“We’re not the best, but we got better as we went along!” Sure, the singing isn’t quite Bollywood-standard, but it’s an inspired and engaging way of telling the story of the Thakrar family’s life in Britain.

DON'T TELL THE BRIDE | E4 9PM

What’s your idea of the perfect pre-wedding moment? A spa treatment, perhaps? Cocktails with the girls? Nah: Lee and his brother Shane decide that bride-to-be Rebecca has to find Lee before she can marry him. Will she even want to?

THIS IS US | More4 10PM

This Is Us is trying something a little different. The next three episodes will focus individually on Kevin, Kate and Randall, in sequence – the order in which they started walking. An invite to an award ceremony at his old high school hits hard for Kevin.

INSIDE ALTON TOWERS | Channel 4 9PM

Life is a rollercoaster

Three years ago, Alton Towers made headlines for all the wrong reasons when a carriage full of visitors collided with an empty test train on one of the park's most popular rides, The Smiler. In total, 16 people were hurt, five of them experiencing life-altering injuries, and the park was fined £5million and forced to drastically overhaul its health and safety measures.

It's no great surprise that the resulting PR nightmare has led to a reduction in visitors to the park, and this one-off film follows Alton Towers' attempt to win back the faith of its fans with new rollercoaster Wicker Man, as thrillseekers line up to be the first to try it out, and the park's staff hope to reignite the public's association with Alton Towers as a happy place.

Law and order

INSIDE THE COURT OF APPEAL | ITV 9PM

We're spoilt for choice when it comes to one-off documentaries at 9pm tonight, as ITV is also offering us this rare chance to glimpse the inner corridors of justice. The film follows three cases – from the QCs putting their arguments together to the verdicts – through the eyes of multiple different parties involved. In one case, Darren Jarvis is fighting to clear his name after being convicted of causing death by dangerous driving – but Joanna Osinska, the partner of another driver who died in the crash, is angry that his appeal is forcing her family to relive all the traumatic memories of the accident.

INSTINCT | Sky Witness 9PM

Sky's rebranded channel continues to go from strength to strength with the addition of this new police series. It stars the tremendous Alan Cumming, so that should be enough to ensure you tune in. You want more? Oh, sorry. It's based on Murder Games by James Patterson, with Alan playing a former CIA agent who's now an author. Slight problem – a serial killer is using his first novel as a guide book. Cue the out-of-retirement montage scene...

MR MERCEDES | Amazon Prime

Season two of Stephen King's adapted Bill Hodges Trilogy comes to Prime on the same day as American transmission. Brady is still in hospital and Bill has tried to move on from the case. But strange happenings at the hospital cause concern.

QUANTICO | Alibi 9PM

The final episode of Quantico EVER (until another network picks it up in years to come) means that, inevitably, when the team comes face-to-face with Conor Devlin, someone isn't going to get out of the series alive. C'est la vie.

EXTRAORDINARY RITUALS | BBC2 9PM

Safety in numbers

The documentary series looking at the ways in which we mark and celebrate major milestones all across the world – in all communities – continues tonight with a look at some of the rituals that take place on a huge scale, whether that be a major sports event, a papal address or a royal wedding.

The rituals featured in this episode include the Palio di Siena, a centuries-old race horse race through the Italian city fiercely contested by 10 of its 17 neighbourhoods, or “contrade”, and begins with a horse lottery. There’s also a look at the highest mass gathering on Earth in the Peruvian Andes, and a rather more contemporary (but very popular) ritual – the Burning Man festival in Nevada.

CELEBRITY BIG BROTHER LIVE EVICTION | Channel 5 9PM

Regional variations

And speaking of extraordinary rituals, they don't really come much more extraordinary than a Celebrity Big Brother eviction, do they? Although arguably they don't really qualify as a “mass gathering” in the way they would have done a decade ago. Anyway, tonight it's the end of the road for at least one of our celebrity housemates, but who will it be? Join Emma Willis at 9pm to find out which star has been given their marching orders, and by all means stick around for Bit On The Side at 10.35pm as Rylan Clark-Neal and guests will also be live, discussing all of the night's big dramas.

PUMP UP THE BHANGRA... | BBC4 10PM

IN and OUT

We spin soap's revolving door...

IN STEPHEN RAHMAN-HUGHES

(Adam Bateman, EastEnders)

Dentist Adam makes his debut this week, as he asks Honey out on a date (see p16) – and EastEnders bosses promise that he's set to cause a stir! Although Adam's practice is not in Walford itself, he already has links with the Square, as he was fostered by Mariam and Arshad Ahmed when he was eight years old. "I'm so thrilled to be joining an incredible cast on such an iconic show, which I've grown up watching," says Stephen. "It really is a dream come true!" This week

KYLE PRYOR (Unknown, Hollyoaks)

IN British-born Kyle is best known for playing Nate Cooper in Home and Away – but he's now heading to the other side of the globe to join the cast of Hollyoaks. Although we don't yet know much about this new character, we're told he will have a connection to Sinead O'Connor (Stephanie Davis), who returns to Chester in the autumn... Nov

MICHELLE FOX (Bea Kinsella, Casualty)

OUT Fans were upset as Bea jetted off in the recent season finale – Michelle tweeted 'Bye bye Bea' after her final scenes had aired, with co-star Chelsea Halfpenny (Alicia) replying 'Noooooooooooo' and a crying emoji. Will Bea be back?

RAEHELLE BANNO (Olivia Fraser Richards, Home and Away)

OUT After three years in Summer Bay, Raechelle's final scenes recently aired in Australia. After Olivia's design for Ziggy's wedding dress brings her attention from a fashion company in Melbourne, she's interviewed for a designer role. UK viewers will soon see her accept the job and leave the Bay. 31 August

THE EX FILES!

What are the one-time stars of soap up to now?

LARRY'S FAMILY WAR HEROES

Larry Lamb – who thrilled us as evil Archie Mitchell in EastEnders from 2008 to 2009 – is set to take part in a new BBC1 factual series commemorating the work ordinary people did in Britain during World War Two. Each episode of the five-part series, Home Front Heroes, will see a different celeb investigate how someone from their own family contributed to the war effort. The series airs in the weeks leading up to Remembrance Sunday.

LORNA'S NEW PLAY!

Former Square star Lorna Fitzgerald (Abi Branning from 2006 to 2018) has an exciting new project lined up. "I'm going to be performing as Eve in Her Naked Skin at Salisbury Playhouse in October!" she announced to her Twitter followers. "I'm sooooo excited! Can not wait!" The 2008 play is about British women's battle to win the vote during the early part of the 20th century, and focuses on the love affair between two suffragettes, Celia and Eve.

JOHN'S DRUG BATTLE

John Partridge (aka Walford's Christian from 2008 to 2016) has opened up about his battle with drink and drugs. "I'm 47, and I don't look good for it," he admitted at the Edinburgh Fringe Show. "I never felt confident in being just myself. My greatest performances were not on the stage, they were in real life. I was always up and dressed first on set – but now I don't need to be like that."

BOOK

JINXED by Amy McCulloch

Lacey has big dreams of being a companioner for the tech firm behind the 'baku' – a smart pet that functions as a phone. But when she ends up with Jinx, the remains of an advanced baku, it becomes her perfect partner.

STAR CHOICE

Hollyoaks' Lauren McQueen (Lily)

"I've been watching The Handmaid's Tale, and I have one episode left. It's very good, as it's set in the future and is about these women who aren't allowed to do what they like, and have to do everything for a male commander. It's dark, but I like watching stuff like that."

HITS & MISSES!

WHAT'S HIT THE BULLSEYE RECENTLY – AND WHAT'S FALLEN WIDE OF THE MARK?

It was devastating when Emmerdale's Sarah had her new heart whipped away seconds before surgery. Hasn't that poor lass suffered enough?

After memorising The Knowledge for Kat's taxi plot, Jessie Wallace will never take a wrong turn in London again. People are more likely to stop her for directions than a selfie!

With this fabulous bouffant, we think Faith is angling for a guest spot on the Real Hairdressers Of Harrogate.

We loved Mercy's brilliant return to Hollyoaks. Even on a multi-million pound yacht, she's still a McQueen through and through!

Just when you thought soaps couldn't get any better, Tracy and Mary re-enacted The Last Dance Of The Season from Dirty Dancing. NEVER put these two amazing ladies in the corner, Corrie! (Except, we kinda have on this page. Soz!)

BULLSEYE!

The gang warfare in EastEnders upsets us, and we feared that things would go the full 'Shakil' when Dennis and Keanu were set upon by Stix and his crew. UNTIL... Phil 'The Boss Man' Mitchell, aka Walford's answer to the Terminator, appeared in the distance before taking out five of the thugs in one fell swoop. Oh, how we cheered!

PS Steve McFadden's still got it!

You know drama is afoot in Corrie when chairperson Rita sounds the red alert and gathers the gingers for a full debrief.

Ah, the glamour of showbiz!

To think Jai used to be married to Dales A-lister Charity, and now he's going on double dates with his dad. Funny how life works out.

Steve's 'I've just snogged someone I shouldn't' face is like an old and very dear friend to us now. And it's one we never tire of!

Missed Opportunity Of The Year goes to Emmerdale, for squandering the chance to have April and the Scooby Gang save Rebecca. Lachlan could have been carted off to jail wailing, "If it wasn't for them pesky kids!"

Talk of Aunt Babe in EastEnders has reminded us of the curse she cast over Walford. Is that what Stuart is for? A blight on the Vic in human form?
